A Virtual Emergency Management Toolkit for Your State or District Website

This toolkit, which is divided into three sections—develop high-quality emergency operations plans (EOPs), engage youth and the school community, and connect with other emergency management practitioners—provides users with an opportunity to populate their own education agency’s Website or emergency management Web page with the latest Federal school emergency management training and technical assistance resources and information for schools in their state or district. To view the Emergency Management Virtual Toolkit, scan the QR code on the right or go to this link: <http://www.rems.ed.gov/virtual-toolkit/index.html>.

The REMS TA Center developed this resource-based toolkit to do the following:

- Allow state education agencies to quickly and easily promote the dissemination of current and consistent information on school emergency management at the state level;
- Allow any education agency to quickly and easily provide access to the latest information, resources and training opportunities for stakeholders;
- Allow school districts to have quick and easy access to the tools they need to develop their high-quality school EOPs, engage youth and the community, and connect with other emergency management practitioners.
